FORMER BUS DRIVER PLEADS GUILTY

A former bus driver who hit and killed a 45-year-old woman while driving a bus last January has pleaded guilty in connection with her death.

James Bauman (dob: 12-14-46) pleaded guilty to careless driving resulting in death (M1). He faces up to a year in jail when he is sentenced next month.

His sentencing is scheduled for August 14, 2006 at 8:30 in Denver County Courtroom 316R.

Breona Taylor was walking across Speer Boulevard at Larimer Street when Bauman's RTD bus hit her. She later died from her injuries.
