WOMAN SENTENCED IN STABBING DEATH

Shauneque McClain was sentenced today for her role in the August 2004 stabbing death of a 29-year-old man. She was found guilty of second-degree murder at a trial earlier this spring and was sentenced today to 16 years in prison.

McClain was involved in an altercation with the victim, Benyam Woldemariam, at Denver's Civic Center Park on August 17, 2004 when she stabbed him.
