MCFARLANE PLEADS GUILTY IN DRIVE-BY

The woman accused of orchestrating a drive-by shooting that left two young girls with gunshot wounds last summer has pleaded guilty in Denver District Court today.

Natalie McFarlane (dob: 01-25-86) pleaded guilty to first-degree assault in the August 2005 shooting of two sisters who were sleeping in their bed when they were shot and injured. It happened near First Avenue and Osceola.

McFarlane faces 20 years in prison when she is sentenced on November 14, 2006 at 8:30 in Denver District Courtroom 16.
