FORMER DRIVER IS SENTENCED IN SCHOOL BUS CRASH

A former school bus driver has been sentenced after driving a bus loaded with children into a house last spring.

Katherine Sierra (DOB: 08-19-47) was sentenced today to 2 years of probation which will include 90 hours of community service to be served at The Children's Hospital and intensive driving classes. She must also write a letter of apology to the victims.

As a result of her guilty plea, she will be assessed 12 points on her driver's license, resulting in suspension of her driving privileges.

Sierra was driving a school bus last spring when the bus sideswiped a car then crashed into a home in the 400 block of Albion Street.
