MORRIS SENTENCED IN MURDER CASE

A man convicted of killing a 16-year-old girl in June 2006 has been sentenced to prison.

Shawn Morris (dob: 12-31-88) was sentenced to a total of 64 years in the Colorado Department of Corrections.

Morris was accused of shooting into a home in the 5200 block of Xanadu Street, hitting Joslynn Thornton as she was visiting her boyfriend.

A co-defendant in the case, Tyrell McCrea, is still awaiting trial.
