BODY FOUND

The Denver Police Department, in its ongoing investigation into the disappearance of 19-year-old Kenia Monge, has located what are believed to be her remains in an area of Weld County.

A positive identification and cause of death is still pending and will be released with the results of the coroner's report.

The search for Monge resumed today based on new information that led Denver homicide detectives and the Denver District Attorney's Office to search an area in south Weld County near I-76 and Weld County Road 53. The Denver Police Department's Crime Lab is at the scene and is expected to continue working well into the night as the investigation continues.
