MAN SENTENCED IN SEXUAL ASSAULTS ON HIS CHILDREN

A man accused of sexually assaulting three of his children over a period of nearly two decades has been sentenced to an indeterminate sentence of 88 years to life in prison.

David Tarver (DOB: 06-19-60) was found guilty of multiple counts of sexual assault on a child (F4), sexual assault on a child by one in a position of trust (F3), sexual assault on a child, pattern of abuse (F3), and aggravated incest (F3) following a trial in January.

He appeared in Denver District Court on Friday for sentencing.

Tarver sexually assaulted at least three of his children over the course of many years, dating back to the late 1980s. The victims reported the alleged incidents after Tarver was arrested in January 2010, in Wyoming for sexually assaulting a grandchild there. He has been convicted in that case and will return to Wyoming to begin serving his prison sentence there.
