CHARGES AMENDED IN VEHICULAR ASSAULT CASE

Following the death of one of the victims, Denver District Attorney Mitch Morrissey has amended the charges against a man accused of crashing his car into a store earlier in July.

Ryan Nuñez (dob: 12-07-89) is now charged with vehicular homicide (F3) and vehicular assault (F4) in addition to two counts of third-degree assault (M1), driving under the influence (M) and driving under revocation (M). The charges were amended last Friday, July 25, 2014.

The charges allege that on July 12, 2014 Nuñez crashed into a building in the 2800 block of S. Colorado Boulevard injuring three people and killing 59-year-old Cheryl Hurlbut, who passed away from her injuries a week later.

Nuñez has been released on a $50,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in Denver County Courtroom 2100 at 8:30 a.m. on August 5, 2014 for a preliminary hearing.
