FORMAL CHARGES FILED IN VEHICULAR ASSAULT

Denver District Attorney Mitch Morrissey has formally charged a man accused of driving into three Denver police officers on bicycles last December, seriously injuring one of the officers.

Christopher Booker (dob: 03-09-73) is charged today with first-degree assault (F3), vehicular assault (F5), seven counts of attempt to influence a public servant(F4) and seven counts of forgery (F5).

The charges allege that on December 3, 2015, Booker was driving a vehicle that crashed into three Denver police officers on bicycles at Colfax Avenue and High Street. Officer John Adsit was seriously injured after being caught underneath the vehicle and dragged. The charges further allege that Booker knew he should not be driving, because of a medical condition, and that he gave untruthful information to the Colorado Department of Motor Vehicles on seven occasions.

Booker remains in custody in the Denver Detention Center; his bond is set at $50,000. He is scheduled to appear in Denver County Courtroom 2100 at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 1, 2015, to be formally advised of the charges.
