GRAND JURY INDICTS CONSTRUCTION COMPANY OWNER

A Denver Grand Jury has returned a 70-count indictment against a man accused of stealing more than $470,000 dollars from property owners and subcontractors in the Denver area.

Roddy Reef (dob: 05-11-59) is charged with violating the Colorado Crime Control Act – COCCA (F2), sixty-four counts of theft, and five counts of forgery.

The charges allege that Reef, doing business as R2 Construction Company, engaged in a pattern of racketeering that included taking money from project owners who had hired R2 Construction to perform construction and remodeling services at various project locations. The owners paid funds to Reef which were designated to pay to subcontractors who worked on the projects. Instead of paying subcontractors, Reef used the money for his personal benefit. There are more than 50 victims identified so far, located within the City and County of Denver and the surrounding metro area, with losses totaling approximately $474,000 over a span of about a year.

Reef has been released from custody on a $10,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in Denver District Courtroom 5D on January 7, 2016, at 8:30 a.m.

Investigators believe there are additional victims. Anyone who thinks they may have been a victim should contact the Denver DA's Office Economic Crime Unit at 720-913-9179.
