UNLAWFUL SEXUAL CONTACT CHARGE DISMISSED AGAINST ENERGY COMPANY EXECUTIVE

The Denver District Attorney's Office filed a motion Wednesday requesting that a charge against an energy company founder in December 2016 be dismissed.

Jack Grynberg (dob: 01-21-1932) was charged in December 2016 with one count of unlawful sexual contact (F4) following an alleged incident involving an employee in August of that year. Further review of the evidence led to a determination that the charge could no longer be proven beyond a reasonable doubt. It was dismissed yesterday.

Prosecutors have an ethical duty to dismiss charges if they determine there is no longer sufficient evidence to prove a case beyond a reasonable doubt.
