MAN SENTENCED IN INVASION OF PRIVACY CASE

A man charged last November with using his cell phone to take photos from underneath a woman's skirt during a Denver Bronco's game was sentenced today.

Jacob Magee (dob: 11-24-1983) pleaded guilty in April as originally charged to one count of invasion of privacy for sexual gratification (F6). He was sentenced today to eight years of sex offender supervised probation and to 30 days in county jail as a condition of probation. He is required to register as a sex offender for life.

On October 30, 2016, at Mile High Stadium during a Broncos game, Magee was confronted by a woman who observed him using his cell phone to take pictures up her skirt without consent. He fled the scene but was later identified and taken into custody.
